Marilyn Redmond's journey reveals the secrets to life and living, imparting reality to all areas of our lives in health, wholeness, happiness and prosperity; it is available to everyone. Experiencing addictions, mental illness, childhood and adult domestic violence are a few of the problems that became Marilyn's laboratory to understand the dynamics of life and living.

She shares this wisdom throughout her more than 25 years of speaking, writing, and counseling. In addition, her 50 years in education -- acquired through years of teaching elementary through college students -- offers solutions to educational problems.

An international lecturer, award-winning author and columnist, she appears at universities, schools, seminars, retreats and conventions. Marilyn's first book, "Roses Have Thorns," along with her videos on Empowerment & Domestic Violence, are available. Marilyn hosted and produced her own radio show and appears on radio and television.

Marilyn Redmond is an international board-certified regressionist and counselor, holds a bachelor of arts in education and has completed three years of graduate work toward a doctor of science. An ordained minister, she has been inducted into "Manchester's Who's Who" for pioneering work in restoring traumatic lives, healing emotional causes of illness and releasing negative energy.

Here are a few testimonials:

"She understands addictions better than most doctors," asserts psychiatrist Dr. George Zerr, M.D.

"I very much enjoyed the real life stories and examples," says Corrine Thompson, Association for Research and Enlightenment Program. "Marilyn is an excellent speaker and down-to-earth."
