

CIO-on-Call

Allen B. Falcon

Allen Falcon, president of Horizon Information Group, has assisted large, mid-size and small businesses with strategic technology planning, management and operations. Working on the staffs of corporate CIOs, Falcon has led efforts to improve the quality and efficiency of information services for internal and external customers. Through implementation of Horizon's End-to-End Service Management models, Falcon has helped clients develop effective service definitions and operating models for IS organizations; realize measurable improvements in problem and change management procedures; and implement financial modeling tools for budgeting and technology investment analysis.

Bringing his experience and expertise to small and mid-size organizations, Falcon has served as a part-time CIO for businesses in multiple industries. In his capacity as a member of clients' management teams, he has planned and managed technology projects that directly support business goals and bottom lines. Beyond improving IS staffing, vendor relations, and procedures for more reliable day-to-day operations, Falcon has defined and led critical business application and infrastructure projects designed to improve and enable new business opportunities.

He is an experienced public speaker, having served on the advisory boards for such industry shows as UNIX Expo and NetWorks EXPO.
