

The Five Star Decision Making System

Colonel Dan Knight Strategic Decision Making Expert

Are you struggling with details in making important decisions? Is your team battling over which steps to take to finalize your important projects? Do you waste time in trying to decide the best approach in dealing with problems?

What if you were given a clear and direct approach to problem solving that saved you time, money, and team disruptions?

Lt. Colonel Dan Knight, U.S. Army, Retired, a renowned leadership expert for corporate and government agencies, has developed the "Five Star Decision Making System" that streamlines all critical decision making and implementation processes for leaders.

This system provides a simple and effective understanding of how the "best of the best" make tough decisions and make them stick.

It offers leaders a fully developed and researched system to overcome frustrations and roadblocks that hinder decision-making and stifle productivity.

Don't get bogged down again in struggling over complexities in your decision-making and waste precious time and resources.
