

Harlem Business Owner Recognized at the 1st Cancun Global Real Estate Summit

Eugenia Foxworth, the Owner/President of Foxworth Realty, Inc. was welcomed by the International Federation of Real Estate, FIABCI Americas and FIABCI Mexico, as a special Guest of Honor at the first Cancun Global Real Estate Summit held in Cancun-Riviera Maya-Tulum in Mexico. At the Gala Dinner on March 2, 2018, she was recognized and was presented with a very special award for attending the summit.

There were 350 attendees who traveled from around the world, including from India, France, the United States, Panama, Columbia, Dominican Republic, Canada etc. Every aspect of real estate was represented, which included architects, developers, investors, attorneys, surveyors, brokers, agents, insurance and title companies etc.

The FIABCI-ORG, World President, Farook Mahmood flew in from India. Two past World presidents Owen Gwyn (Owner of the Breakers in Palm Beach) and Kirkor Ajderhanjan from Nice, France, also attended.

Guest speaker Ismael Leyva, architect, known worldwide as a "Prolific Starchitect" was born in Vera Cruz, Mexico. He founded Ismael Leyva Architects PC, based in New York City, in 1996. His company has grown into an internationally recognized architecture, interior design, and urban planning firm. The Time Warner Building, The Chatham, Brompton, 15 Hudson in New York City and the tallest building in Costa Rica are a few of the prestigious buildings that are a part of the firm's portfolio.

Teresa King Kinney, the Chief Executive Officer of the Miami Association of Realtors, which is the largest chapter in the United States, was a guest speaker. She has been instrumental in making Miami the top market for domestic and international investors.

Ms Foxworth is on the Board of Directors for FIABCI-USA. She is also the vice president of the Americas for the International Federation of Real Estate, which was established 68 years ago. The organization is a NGO, non-governmental organization with the United Nations and is in 65 countries.

Harlem Community Newspapers | March 29, 2018 7